

BEAUTRONICS

As anti-ageing technology gears up for the start of a new year, it's not just creams and serums that should be top of your wish list. Look out for these lifting, plumping and smoothing gadgets...

TOOTHBRUSH TECHNOLOGY FOR YOUR FACE: SQOOM ANTIAGE, £529

Sonic technology, usually found in toothbrushes, is now being used as a non-invasive facelift. Not only do the waves generated by this gadget enable the three anti-ageing gels provided to penetrate deep into the skin, they stimulate the muscles to make it look firm.

THE CELEBRITY FAVOURITE: CACI MICROLIFT, £350

Caci has always been a salon treatment that successfully turned back the clock, with A-list fans including Madonna. Now it's available at home, promising a 10-minute face lift using low-frequency electrical pulses to give instant wrinkle-smoothing results.

RED LIGHT THERAPY AT HOME: TANDA LUXE, £199.99

Normally a technique used in cosmeceutical treatments, red light therapy is a dream for combatting the signs of ageing from the inside out. Now available at home, expect brighter, plumper skin thanks to its collagen- and cell-energy boosting skills. Its speciality? Targeting tough areas, such as your eyes and mouth.

THE FACIAL GYM: SLENDERTONE FACE, £250

When uber-therapist Nichola Joss can't be with her A-list clients, she prescribes the Slendertone Face. She says, 'It's super-easy to use thanks to its headset style, and it works by firming and toning your facial muscles, which will in turn rejuvenate your skin's texture. Think of it as a gym for your face!'

THE POWER PLATE FOR YOUR FACE: CRYSTAL CLEAR LIFT AWAY THE YEARS, £69.99

Familiar with the Power Plate and pulsing mascaras? There's now a vibrating pen-style gadget that delivers an anti-ageing serum. In two minutes, you'll notice a lifted jawline and plumper skin thanks to the great shakes and peptide-packed built-in serum.
